Fire Safety in Health and Social Care

Fire Safety in Health and Social Care -
Online Training Course - UKCSTF Aligned

OVERVIEW

Welcome to The Mandatory Training Group's online Fire Safety in Health and Social Care training course for front-line healthcare and social care providers. All our online training courses, programmes and qualifications are accredited by the CPD Certification Service (CPDUK).

Since the publication of the fire safety Regulatory Reform (Fire Safety) Order 2005, the provision of fire training has become a legal requirement for all employees within the UK. Fire safety in the health and care environments is particularly challenging since many people will require some degree of assistance from staff to ensure their safety in the event of a fire.

Fire within a health or care setting can have a significant impact and consequences which can include property loss, injury and potential loss of life. High levels of fire safety awareness and knowledge by the health and care workforce is essential if safe environments are to be maintained, and the distressing consequences that can be caused by fire are to be prevented.

Course aims

By the end of this online Fire Safety in Health and Social Care training course, learners will understand:

- What causes fires and how to prevent them,
- What the law requires businesses regarding fire safety, including who enforces the law,
- The importance of good housekeeping to minimise risks,
- What type of detection and warning systems should be in place on their premises,
- How to ensure their evacuation routes and exits remain effective at all times,
- Fire safety signage,
- The different types of evacuation strategies their workplace may use,
- What to do during an evacuation, and
- The importance of personal emergency evacuation plans and fire drills.
Learning outcomes

On completion of this online Fire Safety in Health and Social Care training course, the learner will:

- Understand the characteristics of fire, smoke and toxic fumes,
- Know the fire hazards in the working environment,
- Be aware of the significant findings of relevant fire risk assessments,
- Understand how to practice and promote fire prevention,
- Be aware of basic fire safety and local fire safety protocols including staff responsibilities during a fire incident,
- Know the means of raising the fire alarm and the actions to take on hearing the fire alarm,
- Know the right steps instinctively to take if a fire breaks out, or smoke is detected,
- Be familiar with the different types of fire extinguishers, state their use and identify the safety precautions associated with their use, and
- Understand the importance of being familiar with evacuation procedures and associated escape routes.

The learning outcomes listed above reflect the minimum standard which should be incorporated into fire safety training for all levels and reflects in England the Department of Health policy on fire safety in the NHS in England: Managing Healthcare Fire Safety (HTM 05-01), Second edition April 2013.

Also, learners should take part in practical training sessions, which include evacuation techniques and where appropriate, use of firefighting equipment. Dependent upon the role, location and service need the learning outcomes stated should be supplemented by specific job and site training. This should include, for example, local fire procedures, escape routes, refuges, evacuation aids and fire alarms and any other aspects as deemed necessary based upon localised fire risk assessment, training needs analysis and policy.

Similarly, staff involved in particular roles such as telephone operators, estates, and working in environments such as operating theatres may need more specific training to fulfil their responsibilities, ineffective fire prevention and management.

Why is this online Fire Safety in Health and Social Care training course essential?

Since the publication of the fire safety Regulatory Reform (Fire Safety) Order 2005, the provision of fire training has become a legal requirement for all employees within the UK. Fire safety in the healthcare environment is particularly challenging since many people in healthcare environments will require some degree of assistance from healthcare staff to ensure their safety in the event of a fire (Department of Health 2013).

Fire within a healthcare setting can have a significant impact and consequences which can include property loss, injury and potential loss of life. High levels of fire safety awareness and knowledge by the healthcare workforce is essential if safe healthcare environments are to be maintained, and the distressing consequences that can be caused by fire are to be prevented.

Within the UK, health and care services are provided in a wide range of environments, and it is essential that depends upon the nature of the environment, which might be categorised as either simple or complex, that the relevant guidance related to fire safety management is used to help assess and address potential fire safety risks.

Customer Testimonials

Civility in the Workplace Training Course for Global Executives

"YPO is the premier global leadership organisation for more than 28,000 chief executives in over 130 countries and the global platform for them to engage, learn and grow. We approached The Mandatory Training Group to develop an online training programme focusing on improving workplace civility. Their team developed excellent learning materials tailored to our organisational needs. With their support, we rolled out the civility in the workplace training programme to over 300 executives around the world."

Nicolle Billmyre, YPO, Texas, USA

Counter Fraud, Bribery and Corruption Training for NHS Providers

"NHS City and Hackney Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) is an NHS organisation led by local GPs. The Mandatory Training Group provided us with tailored courses focussing on tackling fraud, corruption and bribery for all our staff across various sites. The e-learning courses helped us to meet statutory and regulatory requirements".

Harriet Griffiths, NHS City and Hackney CCG, London, UK

Accredited Training Courses, Programmes and Regulated Qualifications

"Reed is the largest platform for jobs, recruitment and courses in the UK. The Mandatory Training Group is one of our most trusted providers of continuing professional development (CPD) programmes and regulated qualifications. They have provided us with a wide range of learning materials ranging from soft skills, personal development, health and safety, among others. These courses help many job seekers to improve their skills and comply with the current UK and European laws".

Healthcare choice for everyone ## Statutory and Mandatory Training for Healthcare Providers

"All our senior clinicians were delighted with the delivery of the mandatory training courses. They found the course leaders to be very flexible with allocating more time to certain areas at request. The course contents that LearnPac had designed were tailored to our workforce, which helped them improve their understanding of the subjects. The application of legislative concepts to practice was excellent".

Sophie Hartley-Jones, OneHealth Group, Sheffield, UK

Online Training and Development for the Public Sector

"We work with various public sector organisations. Statutory and mandatory training is essential for all our placements. We used LearnPac for the blended learning environment they provide for our staff. The online statutory and mandatory training courses adequately meet our regulatory requirements. LearnPac's learning management system enabled us to manage our learners and quickly sort out compliance for our workers. The flexibility of pricing and meeting our needs with the mandatory training was beneficial."

David Sanchez, Eden Brown Synergy, London, UK

Nuffield Health

Blended Train the Trainer Courses for Healthcare Providers

"We were looking to provide resuscitation and first aid training for clinical and non-clinical staff internally. The Mandatory Training Group stood out because they provide comprehensive blended learning solutions. Our internal trainers and facilitators were able to complete the theory training and assessments in advance. The practical sessions were packed with meaningful activities throughout the day. The lead trainers also helped us to complete training needs assessments".
