

Lean Six Sigma

Business Management & Improvement

Focus on value. Improve processes. Eliminate problems

peoplecert.org/LSS | PeopleCert

IASSC six sigma courses | Hudson

PeopleCert Accredited Partner

Lean Six Sigma is one of the most popular business performance methodologies.

The Lean Six Sigma (LSS) certifications are designed to support corporates in their mission to improve customer satisfaction, boost performance levels, and shorten the time-to-market. Self-employed professionals and consultants are looking to benefit from the above-average salary level provided by Lean Six Sigma certification and its potential for cross-industry application.

Lean focuses on efficiency through the minimization of waste, errors and delays, while Six Sigma focuses on quality and consistency, through processes improvement and variation reduction. The combination guarantees cost and time efficient products and services of the highest quality.

Lean Six Sigma is made of three levels, or 'belts', that provide a complete array of techniques for optimising production processes, cost efficiency, and product quality.

Certification scheme

Yellow belt For professionals with elementary knowledge of the LSS Method and some experience working in simple projects

Green belt For professionals with a high level of understanding of the LSS Method and some experience working in more complex projects

Black belt For professionals with a thorough understanding of the LSS Method and the ability to successfully lead complex improvement projects

Who is it for?

- > For those who lead transformation projects or run continuous improvement functions within organisations with strong customer satisfaction goals shared across the Board
- > Self-employed consultants seeking a formal qualification and structure for their business transformation skills
- > Consultants employed by big consultancy firms that serve major organisations

Benefits for Organisations

- > Improve customer satisfaction and loyalty
- > Increase business profitability
- > Reduce production costs
- > Implement systematic quality improvements
- > Successfully run transformation projects for different functions, from production to sales

Benefits for Professionals

- > Increased earning potential
- > Enhanced career opportunities
- > Globally recognised and respected certification
- > Formalised business transformation skills
- > Deploy a result-oriented work style

PeopleCert

All talents, certified.

PeopleCert is the global leader in the delivery of examination and accreditation services, delivering millions of exams in 25 languages across 200 countries. Partnering with multi-national organisations and government bodies, PeopleCert develops and delivers market-leading exams worldwide, enabling individuals to reach their full potential and realise their life ambitions through learning.