

WATSON MARTIN

Helping to shape the future of the people profession, one person at a time.

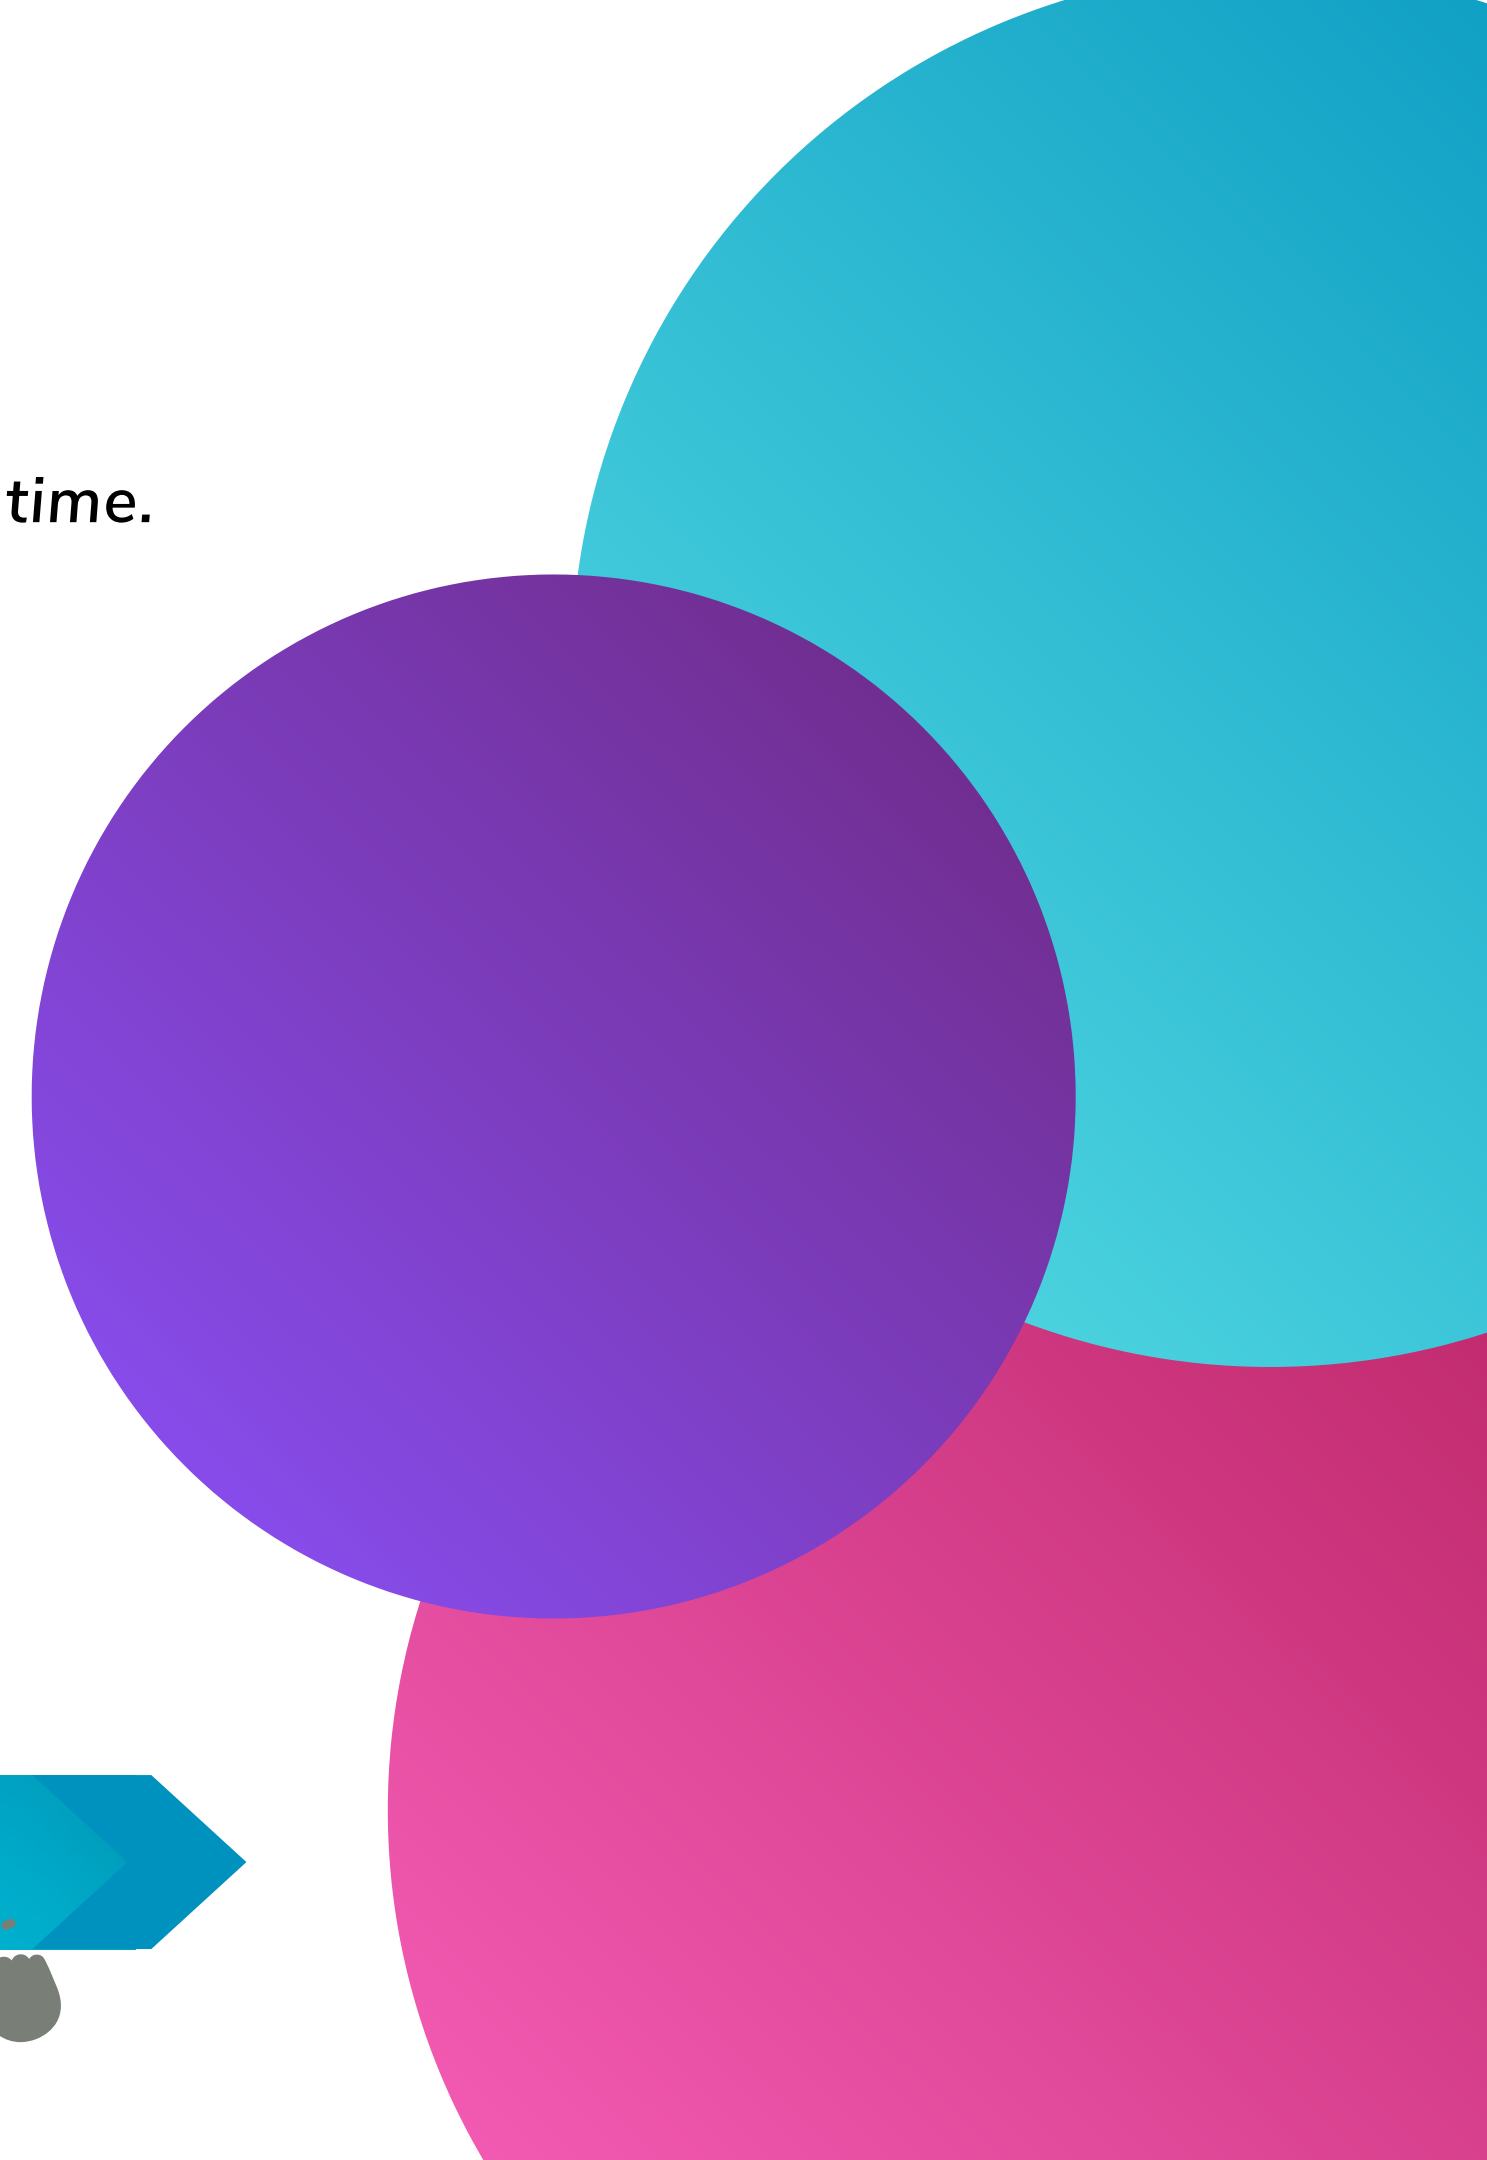

Watson Martin has been providing CIPD qualifications for individuals and corporate clients since 2004 and has supported thousands of candidates to successfully complete their qualifications. We are the only provider to offer all specialist units across all levels and all modes of delivery.

Candidates are supported throughout their studies by a dedicated adviser who has an unparalleled depth of HR knowledge and experience that brings the academic weight required for any learning project. The character and spirit of our team drives us to help our candidates achieve their goals and we are proud of our outstanding status and excellent pass rates.
